THE COMMON ROOM

Ah yes, the common room. A place that has undergone extensive improvements and modifications thanks to our very own... Mr Costa. Don't get me wrong, originally, it certainly had the basics; big black sofas, a recliner (wasn't too shabby either) and a well-meaning table tennis board (that'd seen better days). Nevertheless, Mr Costa knew that Meadowcroft School could certainly do better. Now dare I ask, what's the one thing every common room needs that our school was yet to possess? A retro Arcade 'Pacman' machine? A retro Arcade 'Street Fighter' machine? An 'Xbox One' console with a brand spanking new HD 32-inch screen?

Nope (although they're all pretty sweet). The heart of any common room... is its pool table. And yes, of course everything I just mentioned can be found in our common room too (come on now, the list was so specific), but our new pool table has certainly been the most welcome addition to the Meadowcroft family. However, such unadulterated 'chillaxness' (yes, I made that word up) doesn't come without a price (initial purchase aside, of course). As always, for our pupils to enjoy the common room's retro splendour and luxury, they must earn at least 2 points per lesson (earnt through work). Special thanks to Mr Costa for shaping the common room into nothing short of bachelor or bachelorette's dream.
