

GRAND DESIGNS (SORT OF)

On the afternoon of any given Wednesday and Monday, creativity reigns supreme.

Yes, I'm clearly talking about Miss Gill's flamboyant art classes, pushing the boundaries of artistic prowess (in all seriousness though, she knows her paints and shades). Mr Hunter, her designated teaching assistant, usually lends a helping hand. His mastery of one tool and one tool alone has granted him god-like illustrative skill: a 20 pence Bic (and no, he's not the author of this piece, how dare you consider this be bias). However, despite the combined capabilities of both Miss Gill and Mr Hunter, one pupil has been notoriously difficult to please: Jake. Blessed with a critic's eye and unbridled ambition (yes, the ambition to do as little as possible totally counts), all the activities and tasks put before him have been deemed "unworthy".

However, Mrs Gill and Mr Hunter with their tireless efforts have finally devised a project worth his talents (emphasis on 'finally'). Jake's imagination often rivals that of most creatively driven savants (yes, there's an overreliance on dragon-related imagery, but each to their own) and so, myself and Mrs Gill have put this to the test (and yes, I am Mr Hunter okay, I lied). Within the next few weeks, the Art room's spare space will be transformed into an illustrious tapestry of Jake's imaginings. Check out some of our concepts above!
